University Regulations Summary — Version 2026.1

Evaluation corpus document. This document intentionally overlaps with detailed policies.

1. Academic Attendance

Students ordinarily require 75% attendance to appear for semester-end examinations.

2. Medical Circumstances

Medical requests require documentation and approval. The separate medical policy contains a special attendance provision.

3. Examination Absence

A documented medical emergency may support a deferred examination. Family celebrations and ordinary vacations are not listed as automatic grounds.

4. Fee Deadlines

For this summary, the semester fee deadline is 20 August.

Fee Type	Deadline	Late Fee
Semester Fee	20 August	■500
Hostel Fee	20 August	■300
Examination Fee	10 November	■200
Library Deposit	15 August	■100
Student Activity Fee	25 August	■100

5. Hostel Entry

The standard hostel curfew is 10:00 PM under the Hostel Handbook. This summary also states that residents may enter until 11:00 PM. The documents do not provide a precedence rule resolving the difference.

6. Student Conduct

Students must comply with academic integrity, residence, safety, and respectful-conduct requirements. Serious matters may be referred to the appropriate committee.

7. Academic Records

Official academic records are maintained by the Academic Office. Students should report discrepancies through the designated process and retain evidence.

8. Notices

An official notice may modify a date or operational procedure when it expressly identifies the activity and effective period.

9. Interpretation

Where provisions appear inconsistent and no precedence rule is provided, students should seek an institutional determination. The later, shorter, or more favorable provision does not automatically prevail.

10. Student Responsibility

Students should monitor official notices, retain approvals, and verify important records. Informal statements should not be treated as amendments.

11. Safety

Students must follow reasonable safety instructions in classrooms, laboratories, hostels, and Institute events.

12. Administrative Requests

Requests should be submitted through the channel named in the relevant procedure. A request is not an approval unless the designated authority communicates an approval.

13. Appeals

An appeal is available only where the applicable rule or notice provides an appeal route. Students should follow the stated deadline and submission method.

14. Closing

This summary is intended to be read together with detailed policies. Where two applicable passages genuinely conflict, an automated system should show the evidence rather than silently invent a resolution.
